Internal Policy Document

Document Code: SEC-POL-007 | Version 3.2 | Atman Cloud Consultancy

1. Definitions

Confidential Data

Any client or internal data not intended for public release, including contracts, financial records, and unreleased product plans.

Restricted Data

The highest sensitivity tier: personal data, credentials, encryption keys, and data subject to regulatory protection (e.g., health or financial records).

Data Custodian

The individual or team accountable for a given dataset's classification, access controls, and retention schedule.

Standard Tier Access

Default access level granted to all employees, covering internal documentation and non-sensitive project data. Distinct from the Standard pricing tier used in customer-facing plans.

2. Data Classification & Handling

Classification	Storage Requirement	Access Control
Public	Any approved storage	No restriction
Internal	Company-managed storage only	Employees only, no external sharing
Confidential	Encrypted at rest, company-managed storage	Named individuals + manager approval
Restricted	Encrypted at rest and in transit, access-logged storage	Named individuals + Data Custodian + Security team approval

3. Incident Response

Any suspected data breach must be reported to security@atmancloud.com within 1 hour of discovery. The Security team will triage severity within 4 hours and notify affected clients within 72 hours if Confidential or Restricted data was involved, in line with applicable regulatory requirements.

4. Device & Access Security

All company devices must have full-disk encryption and automatic screen lock after 5 minutes of inactivity. Access to Restricted Data requires hardware security key MFA; password-only or SMS-based MFA is not sufficient for Restricted Data access.

5. Data Retention & Deletion

Confidential data is retained per the relevant client contract, defaulting to 3 years post engagement if unspecified. Restricted data is deleted within 30 days of the stated business purpose ending, unless a legal hold is in effect.
